

TRANSCRIPT

INTERVIEWEE: Rick Lowerre

INTERVIEWER: David Todd

DATE: July 31, 2020

LOCATION: Boulder, Colorado, by telephone

REEL: 4031

TRANSCRIPTION: Trint and David Todd

FORMAT: mp3

FILE:

Paddlefish_Lowerre_Rick_BoulderCO_31July2020_Reel4031_15123506960_NoiseReduced&SignalAmplified.mp3

Google Voice [00:00:00] This conversation is now being recorded.

Rick Lowerre [00:00:01] David, this is Rick.

David Todd [00:00:04] Yes. Yes, sir.

Rick Lowerre [00:00:06] Do you have another minute?

David Todd [00:00:07] Always, for you. Yes.

Rick Lowerre [00:00:09] OK. Well, I'm just like, oh my God. So, you know, in terms of, other, your last question, anything else I need to add? I've got to say, I've got to say that, you know, the board of the Caddo Lake Institute, in particular, the chairman of the board, Don Henley, who helped, you know, support, fund and gave us the patience to let this project go forward as long as it did or as long as it has, they were, you know, they deserve as much credit as anybody. They helped get this whole thing started, especially Henley, and, you know, I just have to say that, you know, they deserve as much credit as anybody.

David Todd [00:01:08] Sure, absolutely. Yeah. Yeah. That's a great addition. And I know that was just unsaid, but always on your mind, so thanks for speaking it out and putting it on the record.

Rick Lowerre [00:01:20] Yeah. And if you can add that, I'd surely appreciate it.

David Todd [00:01:25] I will. That's easy. And thanks for the reminder. I think it just almost goes without saying, but but.

Rick Lowerre [00:01:31] Yeah.

David Todd [00:01:32] It's good to to put it down in black and white.

Rick Lowerre [00:01:35] Yes.

David Todd [00:01:36] Thank you.

Rick Lowerre [00:01:36] Okay. Thanks.

David Todd [00:01:38] All right. You bet. Take care. Talk to you later.